Are files saved on the C: drive or local hard drive backed up automatically?

Tell Me

1. No, files stored on your local hard drive or C: drive are not backed up automatically. In the event of a hardware issue your files may be lost. You can backup your files to a USB drive, Google Drive or Dropbox.
2. Files saved in the cloud solutions using Google Drive and Dropbox are available anywhere with Internet access.

Related FAQs

- How do I manually connect to my H: or S: drive with my university Windows or Mac computer?
- How do I access my H:, S: or J: Drive on my university Windows computer?
- What departments does ITS Desktop Services support on campus?
- How do I register a computer, printer or other device on the network?
- How do I set up Gmail on my Windows phone?