How do I select the appropriate food-related account code?

Tell Me

1. There is a full page devoted to explaining food and meal expense accounts within the Expense Account Code List document.

Related FAQs

- What account should I use for employee training expenses?
- Should I record an offset to an expense account when I receive money back?
- How do I determine which “other” or “miscellaneous” account code to use?
- How do account codes impact the University's financial statements?
- Which account code should I use to record a fixed asset when I create a new requisition?