Why would I want to claim a building in Google My Business?

Tell Me

- Claiming a location allows UNC Charlotte departments and areas to manage their online information, like hours and websites, across Google, including results from searches and on Google Maps.
- It is not necessary for departments and areas to claim a building. Google will use its search information to add certain information. If your building operation times vary over semesters and the summer, departments and areas may find this useful.

Related FAQs

- How do I get access to 25Live?
- What is Legacy Banner Self Service?
- What are the University's IT policies?
- What is Apporto?
- How do I open an application within Apporto?