How does the Graduate School communicate with graduate program directors?

Tell Me

GPDNet.uncc.edu is the primary communications tool for the Graduate School. This intranet provides graduate program directors (GPDs) with access to our news, deadlines, important dates, resource material, projection and planning reports, plus it allows a program to manage their content on the Graduate Admissions website.

Related FAQs

- How do I nominate a candidate for graduate faculty?
- How do I make a change to graduate curriculum?
- What is eGA (electronic graduate assistantship)?
- How do I post an open assistantship position?
- How does the Graduate School communicate with graduate program directors?