

Do I need to complete Human Subjects Research training?

Tell Me

1. All investigators, co-investigators, and research assistants (i.e. all study personnel) must complete human subjects research training, and the training must be current within the last three (3) years.
 2. UNC Charlotte uses – CITI \(Collaborative Institutional Training Initiative\), an external organization for various training programs including human subjects research training.
 3. If you are uncertain as to how to register for CITI or which training curriculum to complete, please contact the Compliance Office for guidance.
