Is there a better way to organize my Gmail Inbox?

Tell Me

1. There are several options available for organizing emails in your Inbox. Test the different options below and see which works best for you!
   a. Inbox Type:
      i. Hover your mouse over the Inbox label and click the down arrow on the right.

      !Inbox Type Options

      ii. Hover your mouse over each type to see a brief description.
      iii. Inbox types allow you to organize your Inbox based on the type of message.

   b. Stars:
      i. Go to your Gmail Settings and scroll about halfway down to the Stars section.

      !Stars Settings

      ii. Stars allow you to mark messages and manually choose how to mark/organize emails.
      iii. Select any or all stars provided and use them any way you desire.
      1. For example, use the exclamation mark to show messages you need to address and the check mark when an email request has been completed.

   c. Importance Markers:
      i. Go to your Gmail Settings and click the Inbox tab.
      ii. Choose Show Markers to have Google automatically flag emails as important.

      !Importance Markers Settings

      iii. Importance markers are assigned by Google based on criteria like who the email is from, how frequently you communicate with the sender, etc.
      iv. You can train Google what should be marked important. If an email is marked but shouldn't be, simply click the marker to remove it from that email. You can also add a marker by clicking the icon on an email message. Over time, Google will learn your preferences and mark accordingly.

---

Related FAQs

- What types of Generic Accounts are available for Gmail at UNC Charlotte?
- How can I get removed from the ResearchStudyAnnouncement-group emails?
- What options are available in Google for generic email?
- How do I create a calendar event from an email?
- How do I login to my UNC Charlotte account from Google's login page?