Who signs confidentiality agreements?

Tell Me

1. Very few individuals have the right to sign confidential information on behalf of the university. Students, faculty, and deans usually cannot do so.
2. Most confidentiality agreements are signed by the Executive Director or the Senior Associate Executive Director of the Office of Technology Transfer.
3. A person who claims to sign a confidentiality agreement on behalf of the university but who is not specifically authorized to do so may be personally liable for any damages resulting from a breach of the agreement.

Related Articles

- Who signs confidentiality agreements?
- Who owns the copyrights on my work?
- When do I need a material transfer agreement?
- What is a material transfer agreement?
- What is a copyright?