How do I add a time-based comment on a Kaltura Video?

Tell Me

If comment is allowed for a Kaltura video, faculty, staff, and students can comment on the video, view comments by other users, reply to existing comments, and go straight to the time in the video based on a time-based comment. You must publish the video to Media Gallery to show the comments field.

1. Go to Media Gallery

2. Click on the video to open

3. In the Comments tab under the video player, you can click in the "Add a Comment" field
4. The option to add a time-based comment will appear

5. Click Add to add the comment

6. Your comment will display below the Comments section

7. Continue to play the video and add comments at suitable time periods
8. Time-based comments are shown to users below the video. Users will be able to click on the time in the comments, which will take them to that specific time in the video.

Users can also click Reply and add their comments to this time-based comment.

The Reply option does not allow for time-based comments.

10. Enter your reply and click Add.

11. When a limited number of comments are displayed, click Load more comments to display additional comments.

12. If you are the media owner you can delete a comment or disable any more comments from being added.
