What is a confidentiality agreement?

Tell Me

1. A confidentiality agreement – sometimes called a non-disclosure agreement or “NDA” – is an agreement between two parties under which one party provides the other with information that both parties agree to maintain in secrecy. Confidentiality agreements usually restrict the ways in which the receiving party may use the other party’s confidential information.

Related Articles

- Who signs confidentiality agreements?
- Who owns the copyrights on my work?
- When do I need a material transfer agreement?
- What is a material transfer agreement?
- What is a copyright?