Info

SPSS software is available for research and educational purposes only.

1. When a SPSS product license expires, the product will cease to be licensed and will no longer function normally.
2. One month prior to the expiration of the license, SPSS products will display a warning message indicating how much time remains before the license expires.
3. If the product is not licensed with a new authorization code with a different (later) expiration date, the warning message will continue to display the number of days remaining for expiration until the license expires.
4. If you are receiving a license warning message please contact the IT Service Desk.
